Pediatric Care

Pediatric Gastroenterology, Hepatology and Nutrition Program

The Gastroenterology, Hepatology and Nutrition Program at Children's Hospital of Michigan is consistently ranked among American's best by U.S. News & World Report for Pediatric Gastroenterology and GI Surgery Programs. Our division offers comprehensive medical care and diagnostic services for infants, children and adolescents with gastrointestinal, liver, pancreatic and nutritional disorders.

We utilize advanced technology for a wide range of procedures and diagnostic tests, including endoscopic procedures, breath hydrogen, pH/impedance monitoring, capsule endoscopy, unsedated transnasal endoscopy, percutaneous gastrostomy tube replacement, variceal banding, and sclerotherapy. Additionally, we offer motility studies including esophageal and anorectal manometry. These endoscopic procedures are performed in our endoscopy suites located at the Children's Hospital of Michigan Main Campus and at Children's Hospital of Michigan - Troy.

Our division comprises a team of experienced physicians, including six board-certified gastroenterologists, one board-certified pediatric hepatologist, two nurse practitioners, six clinical nurses and two dieticians who specialize in caring for children with a wide variety of common and rare gastrointestinal and liver disorders. All faculty members hold appointments at Central Michigan University College of Medicine and are actively involved in the education of medical students, residents and fellows.

The Division also offers interdisciplinary programs, including the Inflammatory Bowel Disease (IBD) Program, Aerodigestive Disease Clinic, Intestinal Rehabilitation Program, Eosinophilic Esophagitis Clinic, and Pediatric Liver Disease and Transplant Program.
